

P2P NEWS

Highlighting what you missed with P2P

SCHOLAR SPOTLIGHT

From Jasmine Joyner (Jazz's) spoken word piece at the P2P Cohort 24 Graduation event:

"I am worth it. We are worth it. We have it as all humans. We ultimately have the same potential. Don't ever sell yourself short. We are one in the midst of a collective reality to BE the Great that is already in us. P2P DEFINES OUR BEGINNING"

IN THE MEDIA

Recent podcasts featuring Dr. Andrisse:

- Talking Time is a place where uncomfortable conversations about incarceration and everything to do with it take place.
- Black Men In White Coats seeks to Increase The Number of Black Men In The Field of Medicine by exposure, inspiration, and mentoring.

SPREADING KNOWLEDGE

Learn more about recent events in prison education:

- Increasing Opportunities for Justice-Impacted Students
- Formerly [Incarcerated] Students Struggle to Shed Their Past

WHAT YOU MISSED

Members made a political visit to the capital in Jefferson City, MO, and talked with Senator Brian Williams, Senator Steven Robert, Senator Karla May, Senator Washington, Robert Arbuthnot, and Michael Weaver about criminal justice reform

*After reading the book From Prison Cells to PhD by P2P's executive director, Stanley Andrisse, MBA, PhD, the staff at the Dorchester Addiction Reentry/Treatment (DART) program noticed similarities in their clients' stories and began incorporating Mr. Andrisse's story into individual and group therapy sessions. Clients became engulfed. Local community members generously donated 60 copies of the book for program participants and the jail's library.*

JOHNS HOPKINS
BLOOMBERG SCHOOL of PUBLIC HEALTH

Center for Public Health and Human Rights

JOHNS HOPKINS
CENTER for MEDICAL HUMANITIES
& SOCIAL MEDICINE

Centering Voices of Formerly and Currently Incarcerated Leaders in the Movement

FROM PRISON CELLS TO PhD: JUSTICE FOR WOMXN AND GIRLS

KEYNOTE
Kimberly Haven
Policy Team Lead, From Prisons Cells to PhD (P2P)
Tenaj Moody
Womxn's Cohort Facilitator, P2P

PANELISTS
Judith Negron
2021 Scholar, P2P
Lana Mendis
2022 Ambassador, P2P
Kelsie Becklin

COMING UP

On April 12th, a talk featuring P2P scholars and ambassadors titled "Centering Voices of Formerly and Currently Incarcerated Leaders in the Movement: Justice for Womxn and girls" will be available online or in person.

Follow us on social media!

